FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Greenway Public Transportation

Conover – Western Piedmont Regional Transit Authority operating as Greenway Public Transportation is pleased to announce that after a thorough search, the Authority Board of Directors has selected Camille Sterling as the new Executive Director. Ms. Sterling served as the Administrative Services Director for the past five years and most recently, as the Interim Executive Director.

“We are thrilled with the selection of Camille Sterling as our new Executive Director,” stated Rick French, Chairman of the Board of Directors. “Ms. Sterling is a transit professional who is both a terrific administrator and has a warm personality at this very exciting time in our organizations development.”

Ms. Sterling holds a BS degree from Gonzaga University. In addition to her education, Camille has over 12 years of experience as a public transportation professional, having held director positions with Wilson County Transportation, Burke County Transportation Services, and as a board member of the North Carolina Public Transportation Association (NCPTA). At present time, she is on the NCPTA Executive Committee as Treasurer.

“I am pleased to serve as the Executive Director of Greenway Public Transportation. I am excited and enthusiastic to lead Greenway’s mission of providing safe and affordable public transportation. I will serve as an active transportation promoter and to open further community dialogue and collaboration regarding public transportation services in our region. I am excited to lead an incredibly energetic team of employees, and to work closely with area agencies, local governments, and other supporters who promote excellence in public transportation.”
